How to use this workbook

This workbook is designed to be used in conjunction with the Fab Phonics™ Level 1 audio cassette, however, it can also be effectively used separately.

Pages 1 through 6 contain all the word examples used on the Fab Phonics audio-cassette, as well as a summary description of the phonics rules. For best results, we recommend that the student read the word examples in the workbook as those examples are given on the tape. If the workbook is not being used in conjunction with the tape, the parent or teacher can read the letter sounds or applicable phonics rule to the student, and then assist the student in decoding each of the word examples.

Pages 7 through 32 contain exercises which reinforce the letter sounds and phonics rules that the student has already learned. To ensure success, the student should complete these exercises only after becoming familiar with the letter sounds and phonics rules which the exercises cover. This workbook also contains a "pull-out" section with answers to the exercises. This section should be removed before the student begins the exercises.

IV. Introduction to Vowels

Each vowel has at least 2 common sounds: one "short" sound, and one "long" sound. The long vowel sounds are the same as the letter name.

a: name take make

e: be me he

i: like time ride

o: go no so

u: use cute cube

Each vowel also has a short sound.

a: can mat an hat

e: get hen well pet

i: it in if tin

o: off on fox rot

u: up cut mud us

The letter "a" also has another short vowel sound.

a: all ball call fall

V. The Letter "y"

The letter "y" is sometimes a consonant, and sometimes a vowel. When "y" appears at the beginning of a word, it is a consonant.

y: yes yet yell

The "y" usually makes a long-e sound at the end of multiple-syllable words.

y: funny pretty family

The "y" usually makes a long-i sound at the end of single-syllable words.

y: my by try

VI. Alternate Common Sounds

The letter "g"

The letter "g" usually makes a "hard-g" sound when it is followed by the letters a, o, or u. This is the most common "g" sound.

g: gap got gum

The letter "g" usually sounds like a "j" when it is followed by the letters e, i, or y.

g: gem giant gypsy

The letter "c"

The letter "c" usually sounds like a "k" when it is followed by the letters a, o, or u.

c: cab cop cut

The letter "c" usually sounds like an "s" when it is followed by the letters e, i, or y.

c: cent city cycle

The letter "x"

The letter "x" usually makes a /ks/ sound when it appears at the end of a word.

x: box six next

The letter "x" usually makes a /z/ sound when it appears at the beginning of a word.

x: xylophone xerox

Finally, the "x" sometimes makes a /gz/ sound.

x: example exactly

The letter "s"

When the letter "s" appears at the end of a word, it can stand for one of two sounds.....the /s/ sound.....

s: yes bus grass

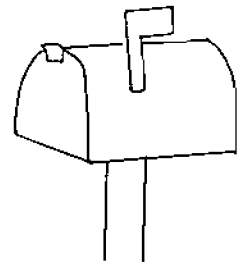

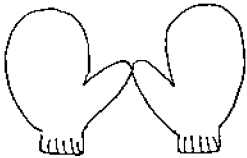

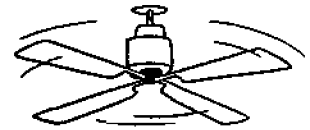

.....or the /z/ sound.

s: as is was
